CAP. X.

The Bill for true making of Malt.

Malt 1. In what manner Malt ſhall be made and uſed. Several unlawful practiſes uſed in the making and ſelling of Malt.

Where divers and ſundry perſons taking upon them the Art and Myſtery of Maltmaking, and tendering more their own private lucre, gain and profit, then the wholeſom victualing of the Kings Majeſty, the Nobility of this Realm, and other his Graces Subjects, have now of late by their unſatiable, covetous and greedy minds, accuſtomably and commonly made much Malt unpure and unſeaſonable, for that they have made the ſame Malt in eight or nine days, where indeed the ſame cannot be well and perfectly made, unleſs it have the time and ſpace of twelve days in the making thereof: And where alſo divers and ſundry of the ſaid makers of Malt, commonly have, and do ſlackly and deceitfully dry the Malt ſo by them made, for that they would have an inordinate increaſe thereof by the ſwelling of the ſaid Malt, whereby the ſame Malt not being ſufficiently dryed, cannot be kept any long time or ſpace, but it will be muſty and full of weavels, whereby no wholſom drink for mans body can by any means be thereof made, which is not only to the great peril and danger of the Nobility, and other the Kings Highneſs Subjects within this Realm, and alſo to the great loſs and decay of the Common-wealth of the ſame, but alſo an utter impoveriſhment of the Brewers of this ſaid Realm, for that the ſaid Brewers (over and beſides the unwholſomeneſs of the drink which is commonly made thereof) cannot make ſo much drink of fifty quarters of Malt, being ſo evil dryed and made, as they might and can make of fourty quarters being well and truly made: And alſo foraſmuch as divers and ſundry perſons minding and ſeeking their own private and exceſſive gain and profit, forgetting thereby their duty, and the order or charity towards the Common-wealth and their neighbours in this behalf, do commonly uſe to put and mix good Malt and evil Malt together, and after put the ſame Malt to ſale as good Malt, whereby many of the Kings Subjects have been, and are like to be very often deceived, to their great loſs and hindrance, contrary to the honeſt, ſeemly and godly buying, ſelling, and commutation that ſhould or ought to be amongſt Chriſtian people, ſpecially in things concerning the ſuſtentation and ſuſtenance of mans body:

How long time Malt ſhall be in the fat, floor, ſteeping and drying.

II. For remedy whereof, it may pleaſe the Kings Majeſty, with the advice of his Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, That it may be eſtabliſhed and enacted by the authority of the ſame, That no ſuch perſon or perſons at any time after the firſt day of March next coming, ſhall make any Barley-Malt (the moneths of June, July and Auguſt only excepted) but that the ſame ſhall have in making thereof, that is to ſay, in the fat, floor, ſteeping, and ſufficient drying of the ſaid Malt, three weeks at the leaſt: and that no ſuch perſon or perſons at any time within the ſaid moneths of June, July and Auguſt, ſhall make any Barley-Malt, except the ſame have in the fat, floor, ſteeping, and ſufficient drying, the time and ſpace of ſeventeen days at the leaſt, under and without which time and times, the ſaid Malt cannot be well and perfectly made, nor wholſom for mans body, upon pain to forfeit and loſe for every quarter of Malt which ſhall be made by any perſon or perſons, contrary to the tenor, purport, and true meaning of this Act, ij. s.

None ſhall mingle good Malt with evil to ſell.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That no perſon or perſons, after the firſt day of March next coming, ſhall mingle or put together any Malt, not being well and ſufficiently made, or being made of Mow-burnt or ſpired Barley, with other good Malt, and after put the ſame ſo mingled to ſale, upon pain to forfeit and loſe for every quarter ſo mingled and put to ſale, two ſhillings.

Malt ſhall be well troden, rubbed, and fanned. St. 17 R. 2. 4.

III. And be it alſo further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any perſon or perſons after the laſt day of January next coming, ſhall put to ſale any Malt which ſhall not be ſufficiently and well troden, rubbed, and well fanned, whereby there may be conveniently fanned out of one quarter thereof half a Peck of duſt or more, That then the perſon ſo putting the ſame to ſale, ſhall forfeit and loſe for every quarter ſo put to ſale, xx. d. The moyety of all which forfeitures to be to the King our Sovereign Lord, and the other moyety thereof to the party that will Sue for the ſame by action of debt, bill, plaint or information, in any of the Kings Courts, wherein no protection, wager of Law, or eſſoin, nor injunction ſhall be admitted or allowed.

Juſtices, Stewards of Leets, and officers of Towns, ſhall puniſh offendors.

IV. And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the Juſtices of Peace in every of their Seſſions, and alſo the Steward in every Leet, ſhall have full power and authority by vertue of this Act, to enquire, hear and determine, as well by preſentment of twelve men, as by accuſation or information of two honeſt witneſſes, of, for and upon all and every the offences and forfeitures aforeſaid, as well for the King, as for the party that ſhall ſue, procure or cauſe the ſame to be preſented, as is beforeſaid. And that the Bayliffs and Conſtables of every Borough or Market Town, or other Town where any ſuch Malt ſhall be made, or put to ſale, ſhall have full power and authority from time to time, to view, ſearch and ſurvey all ſuch Malt, as ſhall be made or put to ſale within any of the ſaid Towns: And if any of them ſhall thereupon find any Malt ſo put to ſale, being evil made, or mingled with evil Malt, contrary to the tenour and true meaning of this preſent Act: that then the ſaid Bayliff or Conſtable ſo finding any ſuch Malt evil made, or mingled as is aforeſaid, with the advice of one Juſtice of Peace within the ſame Shire, ſhall cauſe the ſame to be ſold to ſuch perſon or perſons, and at ſuch reaſonable price or prices, and under the common price of the market, as to his diſcretion ſhall ſeem neceſſary and expedient.

Malt made for a mans own proviſion.

Within what time an offendor ſhall be preſented.

V. Provided alway, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act, nor any thing therein contained, ſhall not extend to charge, or be to the making of Malt for any mans own proviſion for his own houſe or family, neither prejudicial to any perſon or perſons, for, or concerning any of the offences or forfeitures aforeſaid; except he or they ſo offending, ſhall happen to be Sued, preſented and accuſed for the ſame, in manner and form aforeſaid, within one year next after any ſuch offence or offences to be done or committed; any thing in this preſent Act to the contrary notwithſtanding. This preſent Act to continue until the end of the next Parliament. 27 El. 14. 1 Jac. 25. 21 Jac. 28. & 3 Car. 4. continued.

Where in the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter the fourth day of February, in the twenty ſeventh year of the Reign of the late King of moſt famous memory, King Henry the Eighth, there was an Act made concerning payment of Tithes predial and perſonal: And alſo in another Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, the four and twentieth day of July, in the two and thirtieth year of the Reign of the ſaid late King Henry the Eighth, another Act was made concerning true paiment of Tithes and Offerings; in which ſeveral Acts, many and divers things be omitted and left out, which were convenient and very neceſſary to be added to the ſame: In conſideration whereof, and to the intent the ſaid Tithes may be hereafter truly paid, according to the mind of the makers of the ſaid Act, be it ordained and enacted by the King our Soveraign Lord, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That not onely the ſaid Acts, made in the ſaid ſeven and twentieth and two and thirtieth years of the Reign of the ſaid late King Henry the Eighth, concerning true payment of Tithes, and every Article and Branch therein contained, ſhall abide and ſtand in their full ſtrength and vertue, but alſo be it further enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That every of the Kings Subjects ſhall from henceforth truly and juſtly, without fraud or guile, divide, ſet out, yield and pay, all manner of their predial Tithes, in their proper kind, as they riſe and happen, in ſuch manner and form as hath been of right yielded and payed within fourty years next before the making of this Act, or of right or cuſtom ought to have been paid: And that no perſon ſhall from henceforth take or carry away any ſuch or like Tithes, which have been yielded or paid within the ſaid fourty years, or of right ought to have been paid, in the place or places titheable of the ſame, before he hath juſtly divided or ſet forth for the Tithe thereof the tenth part of the ſame, or otherwiſe agreed for the ſame Tithes with the Parſon, Vicar, or other owner, proprietory or fermor of the ſame Tithes, under the pain of forfeiture of treble value of the Tithes ſo taken or carried away.

XVI. Provided nevertheleſs, where heretofore ſuch a cuſtom hath been in many parts of Wales, that of ſuch cattel and other goods as hath been given with the marriage of any perſon, their Tithes have been exacted and levied by the Parſons and Curates in thoſe parts: which cuſtom being diſſonant from any part of this Realm, as it ſeemed when the ſaid Countrey of Wales was through civil diſſention unculted, for want of other ſufficient profits that might otherwiſe grow to the Curates and Miniſters there, to have been for that time tolerable: ſo now the Countrey being well manured and husbanded, and the Tithe is duly paid there, of Corn, Hay, Wooll and Cheeſe, and of other increaſe of all manner of Cattel, as it is commonly in all other parts of this Realm, the ſame cuſtom ſeems to be grievous and unreaſonable, ſpecially where the Benefices are elſe ſufficient for the finding of the ſaid Miniſters and Curates: that it be therefore enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That from and after the firſt day of May next coming, no ſuch Tithes of marriage goods be exacted or required of any perſon within the ſaid Dominion of Wales, or Marches of the ſame; any thing in this Act contained, or any other Act, cuſtom, preſcription had or made to the contrary hereof notwithſtanding. CAP. XIV.

An Act againſt the ſhooting of Hail-ſhot.

Whereas an Act was made in the three and thirtieth year of the late King of famous memory Henry the Eighth, for ſome liberty to ſhoot in Hand-guns, Haques and Harquebuts, by which Act nevertheleſs it was provided, That no perſon ſhould ſhoot in any of the aboveſaid pieces, but at a bank of earth, and not at any Deer or Fowl, unleſs the party might diſpend an hundred pound by the year: foraſmuch as the ſaid Act having been deviſed, as it was then thought, for neceſſary exerciſe tending to the defence of the Realm, is grown ſithen to the maintenance of much idleneſs, and to ſuch a liberty, as not onely dwelling-houſes, Dove-cotes and Churches are daily damaged by the abuſe thereof, by men of light converſation, but that alſo there is grown a cuſtomable manner of ſhooting of Hail-ſhot, whereby an infinite ſort of Fowl is killed, and much Game thereby deſtroyed, to the benefit of no man, whereby alſo the meaning of the ſaid Statute is defrauded, for that the ſaid uſe of Hail-ſhot utterly deſtroyeth the certainty of ſhooting, which in Wars is much requiſite: Be it therefore enacted, That no perſon under the degree of a Lord of the Parliament, ſhall from henceforth ſhoot in any Hand-gun, within any City or Town, at any Fowl or other mark, upon any Church, houſe or Dove-cote: neither that any perſon ſhall ſhoot in any place any Hail-ſhot, or any more Pellots then one at one time, upon pain to forfeit for every time that he or they ſhall ſo offend contrary to this Act, ten pound, and impriſonment of his body during three moneths.

Guns 4. &c.
No perſon may ſhoot with an hand-gun in City or Town, at a mark, or elſe ſhoot with hail-ſhot.
Anno 33 H. 8. 6.

II. Provided always, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act, nor any thing therein contained, ſhall extend or be prejudicial to any perſon or perſons authoriſed by value of land, to ſhoot in any Hand-gun or Croſs-bow, but that they may ſo do in ſuch form and order as they ſhould do, and might have done before the making of this Act (Hail-ſhot excepted) as indeed that kind of ſhot in the ſaid Act was not meant: and that all and every other perſon or perſons authoriſed to ſhoot, or otherwiſe, if he inhabit in any Town corporate, be preſented to the Mayor or other Officer of the ſame, and inhabiting in the Countrey, be preſented within one moneth after the publiſhing of this Act, to the next Juſtice of Peace adjoyning; in which caſes the ſaid Mayor, Juſtice, or other Officer ſo taking their names as is aforeſaid, ſhall again preſent and record the ſame before a Juſtice of the Peace at the next quarter Seſſions, to the intent the Clerk of the Peace of the County, may keep a certain Book or Roll of the names of all ſuch perſons, by the which the Kings Majeſty may from time to time be aſcertained, how many meet and able men, exerciſed in that feat, be in every County, that the ſame may be employed in his Graces ſervice, as need and occaſion ſhall require, upon pain that every perſon offending in this Act, in preſuming to ſhoot in any Hand-gun or half-haque, without the preſenting of his name, as is aforeſaid, ſhall forfeit for every ſhot the ſum of twenty ſhillings, the one moyety whereof to be to our Sovereign Lord the King, and the other moyety to him or them that will Sue for the ſame, by bill, action, plaint, information, or otherwiſe: The Officer that ſhould take their names, and preſent the ſame, as is aboveſaid, to incur for the lack of his duty in this part, for every time ſo offending, like pain.

The names of thoſe that ſhoot in hand-guns ſhall be preſented to a Juſtice, and recorded.

CAP. XV.

The Bill of Conſpiracies of Victuallers and Craftſmen.

Foraſmuch as of late divers ſellers of Victuals, not contented with moderate and reaſonable gain, but minding to have and to take for their Victuals ſo much as luſt them, have conſpired and covenanted together to ſell their Victuals at unreaſonable prices: And likewiſe Artificers, Handicrafts-men and Labourers, have made confederacies and promiſes, and have ſworn mutual Oaths, not onely that they ſhould not meddle one with others work, and perform and finiſh that another hath begun, but alſo to conſtitute and appoint how much work they ſhall do in a day, and what hours and times they ſhall work, contrary to the Laws and Statutes of this Realm, and to the great hurt and impoveriſhment of the Kings Majeſties Subjects: For reformation thereof, it is ordained and enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, the Lords and Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That if any Butchers, Brewers, Bakers, Poulterers;

II. And if it fortune any ſuch conſpiracy, covenant or promiſe to be had and made by any Society, Brotherhood or Company of any Craft, Myſtery or occupation, of the Victuallers above mentioned, with the preſence or conſent of the more part of them, that then immediately upon ſuch act of conſpiracy, covenant or promiſe, had or made, over and beſides the particular puniſhment before in this Act appointed for the offendor, their Corporation ſhall be diſſolved to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes.

Which Magiſtrates may inquire of and puniſh offendors.

CAP. XIX.

An Act touching abſtinence from Fleſh in Lent, and other uſual times.

Holidays 4. Eating of fleſh on certain days and times forbidden.

Albeit the Kings ſubjects now having a more perfect and clear light of the Goſpel, and true Word of GOD, through the infinite mercy and clemency of Almighty GOD, by the hands of the Kings Majeſty, and his moſt noble Father of famous memory, promulgate, ſhewed, declared and opened, and thereby perceiving, that one day, or one kind of meat of it ſelf is not more holy, more pure, or more clean then another, for that all days and all meats be of their nature of one equal purity, cleanneſs and holineſs, and that all men ſhould by them live to the glory of GOD, and at all times, and for all meats give thanks unto him, of which meats none can defile Chriſtian men, or make them unclean at any time, to whom all meats be lawful and pure, ſo that they be not uſed in diſobedience or vice: Yet foraſmuch as divers of the Kings ſubjects, turning their knowledge therein to ſatisfie their ſenſuality, where they ſhould thereby increaſe in vertue, have of late time more then in times paſt, broken and contemned ſuch abſtinence, which hath been uſed in this Realm upon the Fridays and Saturdays, the Embring days, and other days, commonly called Vigils, and in the time commonly called Lent, and other accuſtomed times: the Kings Majeſty conſidering, that due and godly abſtinence is a mean to vertue, and to ſubdue mens bodies to their ſoul and ſpirit, and conſidering alſo that Fiſhers, and men uſing the trade of living by fiſhing in the Sea, may thereby the rather be ſet on work, and that by eating of fiſh much fleſh ſhall be ſaved and increaſed, and alſo for divers other conſiderations and commodities of this Realm, doth ordain and enact, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That all manner of Statutes, Laws, conſtitutions and uſages, concerning any manner of faſting or abſtinence from any kinds of Meats, heretofore in this Realm made or uſed, ſhall from the firſt day of May next enſuing, loſe their force and ſtrength, and be void and of none effect.

Embring days, Lent.

All Laws concerning faſting repealed.

II. And alſo that no perſon or perſons, of what eſtate, degree or condition he or they be, ſhall at any time after the ſaid firſt day of May, in the year of our Lord God MDXLIX. willingly and wittingly eat any manner of fleſh, after what manner of kind or ſort it ſhall be ordered, dreſſed or uſed, upon any Friday or Saturday, or the Embring-days, or in any day in the time commonly called Lent, nor at any ſuch other day as is or ſhall be at any time hereafter commonly accepted and reputed as a Fiſh-day, within this Realm of England, wherein it hath been commonly uſed for to eat fiſh and not fleſh, upon pain that every perſon eating any manner of fleſh upon any of the ſaid days or times prohibited by this Act, to forfeit for the ſaid firſt offence ten ſhillings of lawful money of England, and alſo to ſuffer impriſonment by the ſpace of ten days, and during the time of his or her ſaid impriſonment, to abſtain from eating any manner of fleſh.

The penalty for eating of fleſh upon any day uſed commonly as a fiſh day. Stat. 5 El. 5. 27 El. 11.

III. And if any perſon, after he ſhall be lawfully convict of any offence contrary to this Act, doth eftſoons offend contrary to this Act, and be thereof lawfully convict, that then every perſon ſo offending the ſecond time, ſhall for his ſecond offence forfeit twenty ſhillings of lawful money of England, and alſo ſuffer impriſonment by the ſpace of twenty days, and during the time of his or her ſaid impriſonment, to abſtain from eating of any manner of fleſh, and ſo like pain and impriſonment as often as he or ſhe afterwards ſhall offend.

The penalty for the ſecond offence.

IV. And furthermore it is ordained and enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That Juſtices of Gaol-delivery, and Juſtices of Peace, in all and ſingular Counties, Cities, Towns corporate, and other places within this Realm of England, and other the Kings Dominions, ſhall have full power and authority to enquire, hear and determine all and all manner offences that ſhall be committed or done contrary to this Act, in like manner and form as they may enquire, hear and determine any treſpaſs, or other offence againſt the Kings Peace committed or done within the limits or place where they then ſhall be Juſtices of Gaol-delivery, or Juſtices of Peace: And the moiety of every ſuch forfeiture ſhall be eſtreated into the Court of Exchequer, in like manner and form as fines for any treſpaſs, or other offence committed againſt the Kings Peace, ought or ſhould be eſtreated: and the other moiety of the ſaid forfeiture ſhall be to him that will ſue for the ſame by bill, plaint, information or otherwiſe, in any of the Kings Courts of Record, in which no eſſoin, protection, or wager of Law ſhall be allowed.

Juſtices of Gaol-delivery and Peace ſhall determin theſe offences.

V. Provided always, and be it ordained and enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act, or any thing therein contained, ſhall not in any wiſe extend to any perſon or perſons that heretofore hath, or hereafter ſhall have obtained any licence of our Sovereign Lord the King, his Heirs or Succeſſors, nor to any perſon being in great age, and in debility and weakneſs thereby, nor to any perſon being ſick or notably hurt, without fraud or covin, during the time of [illegible] her ſaid ſickneſs, nor to any woman being with child, or lying in child-bed, for eating of [illegible] one kind of fleſh as ſhe ſhall have great luſt unto, nor to any perſon being in priſon, for any other offence then for any offence contrary to this Act; neither to any that is, or hereafter ſhall be the Kings Highneſs Lieutenant, Deputy or Captain of any his Majeſties Army, Hold or Fortreſs: but the ſame themſelves may eat fleſh, and licence and permit their Souldiers to do the ſame in times prohibited, upon the want and lack of other kind of victual: neither ſhall extend to St. Laurence Even, St. Marks day, or any other day or even being abrogate, neither to any ſuch as heretofore have obtained any licence in due form of the Archbiſhop of Canterbury.

To what perſons this Statute ſhall not extend.

St. Laurence even and St. Marks day.

VI. And further be it enacted by authority aforeſaid, That all Archbiſhops, Biſhops, Archdeacons, and their Officers, or the Officers of any of them, ſhall have power to inquire of the offendors in the premiſſes, and preſent the ſame to ſuch from time to time, as by vertue of this Act have authority to hear and determine the ſame.

VII. Provided always, and be it enacted, That no manner of perſon or perſons be impeached, moleſted or troubled, or ſhall incur any pain, penalty or forfeiture for any offence contrary to the Act before rehearſed, committed or done, except he or they be accuſed, convented or indicted, of and for the ſaid offence, according to the tenour of this Statute, within three moneths next after the committing of the ſaid offence. 5 & 6 Ed. 6. 3.

Within what time the offendor ſhall be indicted.

CAP. XX.

A Incumbent, for not paying of his Tenths due to the King, the ſame being demanded, ſhall be deprived of that benefice.

WHere in the Parliament holden upon prorogation at Weſtminſter, the third day of November, in the ſix and twentieth year of the Reign of the moſt excellent Prince, King Henry the Eighth, Father to our Soveraign Lord the Kings Majeſty that now is, amongſt other things concerning the payment of one annual penſion of the tenth part of all poſſeſſions of the Church, Spiritual and Temporal, granted to the Kings Highneſs and his Heirs, it was enacted, ordained and eſtabliſhed, That every Eccleſiaſtical perſon, and other, having any Eccleſiaſtical promotion or dignity, ſpecified in the ſaid Act, which did not duly pay the ſaid tenth part, and by reaſon thereof were certified by the Archbiſhop, Biſhop, or other authoriſed in the ſaid Act, ſhould upon ſuch certificate made according to the tenor of the ſaid Act, be judged, deprived ipſo facto, of all ſuch dignities and promotions Spiritual, that any ſuch Incumbent, making ſuch default, had at the time of any ſuch Certificate made, or at any time after, as by the ſaid Act more plainly may appear.

Eccleſiaſtical perſons 29.

II. Foraſmuch as the pain limited in the ſaid Statute, in ſuch form and manner as in the ſame is expreſſed, is very ſore and dangerous unto all the Kings faithful and obedient Subjects of the Clergy, whereof divers ſithen the making of the ſaid Statute, intending none touching deprivation of all a mans Spiritual livings for lack of paiment of the Tenth of one.

otherwiſe then moſt willingly and with good heart that paiment ſhould be made of the ſaid Tenths by them due, without fraud or delay, to ſuch Officers, and at ſuch time as by the ſaid Statutes is appointed and declared, by the default and negligence of their farmors, and other whom they have truſted to make paiment thereof, and by divers other ſiniſter means being certified, or making default of paiment thereof, have incurred the pain and danger of the ſaid Statute, with the loſs or deprivations of all the Spiritual promotions whereof they were then Incumbents, being alſo made unable to take any other, to the utter undoing of ſuch perſons, and the like peril and danger of many other the Kings moſt humble and faithful ſubjects of the Clergy, againſt whom the like things may be practiſed and attempted hereafter: for the moderation of which pain, and to the end that the Kings Majeſty, our Soveraign Lord that now is, and his Heirs and Succeſſors, may be truly anſwered and ſatisfied of the ſaid yearly Penſion or annual Rent of the tenth part, united and knit to his Imperial Crown, in manner and form as in the ſaid Act is contained:

The penalty for default of paiment of Tenths, ſhall be the forfeiture of that onely Benefice out of the which the ſame is due.

III. The Kings ſaid faithful and moſt obedient Subjects, the Clergy of this Realm, do moſt humbly beſeech his Majeſty, that it may be enacted and eſtabliſhed by his Highneſs, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That if any ſum of the ſaid Annual Penſion, being once due, and demanded according to the manner and form ſpecified in the ſaid Act, be not truly contented and paid unto ſuch Archbiſhop or Biſhop, or their Miniſters and Officers, or to ſuch other perſon or perſons, or their Miniſters or ſervants, as ſhall have the charge and collection thereof every year yearly, at the time of the ſaid Act expreſſed, and thereupon certificate made into the Kings Majeſties Court of Firſt-fruits and Tenths, in Writing under the Seals of any Archbiſhop or Biſhop, or of ſuch as be limited and charged to the collection of the ſaid Penſion, by the ſaid former Act, then every Incumbent ſo making default and certified, ſhall be judged, deprived ipſo facto, of that onely Dignity, Benefice, or other Eccleſiaſtical promotion, by what name ſoever it be called, whereof ſuch Certificate ſhall be made; So that ſuch Dignity, Benefice, or other Eccleſiaſtical promotion, whereof any Incumbent making ſuch default of paiment, ſhall be judged deprived, as is aforeſaid, ſhall be clearly void and deſtitute of Incumbent in the Law, to all intents and purpoſes, as if ſuch Incumbent making ſuch default of paiment, were dead indeed.

IV. And that no Incumbent making ſuch default of paiment, ſhall be therefore made unable to take or enjoy any other benefice or promotion Spiritual, or incur any penalty, forfeiture or loſs to be paied by them, their Executors or Aſſigns for the ſame default, other then in this preſent Act is heretofore expreſſed; any thing in the ſaid former Act, or any other Statutes or Acts contained to the contrary notwithſtanding.

V. Provided alway, That the ſaid former Act concerning the paiment of the ſaid yearly Rent and Penſion, amounting to the tenth part of every ſuch Dignity, Benefice or promotion Spiritual, and every other Act touching the ſame, and all Articles, Clauſes and Sentences in them, or any of them mentioned, expreſſed or contained, now being in his or their force and effect, other then ſuch as by this preſent Act be already qualified or moderated, ſhall ſtand and abide in all his or their full ſtrength, effect and vertue; any thing in this preſent Act contained notwithſtanding. 1 El. 4.

CAP. XXI.

An Act to take away all poſitive Laws made againſt Marriage of Prieſts.

Matrimony 2. All Laws prohibiting Spiritual perſons to marry, who by Gods Law may marry, ſhall be void.

The benefits which would enſue if Prieſts and Miniſters did live chaſte, ſole and unmarried.

ALthough it were not onely better for the eſtimation of Prieſts, and other Miniſters in the Church of God, to live chaſte, ſole and ſeparate from the company of women, and the bond of marriage, but alſo thereby they might the better intend to the adminiſtration of the Goſpel, and be leſs intricated and troubled with the charge of houſhold, being free and unburdened from the care and coſt of finding wife and children, and that it were moſt to be wiſhed, that they would willingly and of their ſelves endeavour themſelves to a perpetual chaſtity and abſtinence from the uſe of women: yet foraſmuch as the contrary hath rather been ſeen, and ſuch uncleanneſs of living, and other great inconveniences, not meet to be rehearſed, have followed of compelled chaſtity, and of ſuch Laws as have prohibited thoſe (ſuch perſons) the godly uſe of marriage: It were better and rather to be ſuffered in the Commonwealth, that thoſe which could not contain, ſhould after the counſel of Scripture live in holy marriage, then feignedly abuſe with worſe enormity outward chaſtity or ſingle life:

II. Be it therefore enacted by our Soveraign Lord the King, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That all and every Law and Laws poſitive, Canons, Conſtitutions and Ordinances heretofore made by authority of man onely, which do prohibit or forbid marriage to any Eccleſiaſtical or Spiritual perſon or perſons, of what eſtate, condition, or degree they be, or by what name or names ſoever they be called, which by Gods Law may lawfully marry, in all and every Article, Branch and Sentence, concerning onely the prohibition for the marriage of the perſons aforeſaid, ſhall be utterly void and of none effect: And that all manner of Forfeitures, Pains and Penalties, Crimes or Actions which were in the ſaid Laws contained, and of the ſame did follow, concerning the prohibition for the marriage of the perſons aforeſaid, be clearly and utterly void, fruſtrate and of none effect, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as well concerning marriage heretofore made by any of the Eccleſiaſtical or Spiritual perſons aforeſaid, as alſo ſuch which hereafter ſhall be duly and lawfully had, celebrate and made betwixt the perſons, which by the Laws of God may lawfully marry.

No marriage without aſking in the Church.

III. Provided always, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act, or any thing therein contained, ſhall not extend to give any liberty to any perſon to marry witout Aſking in the Church, or without any Ceremony being appointed by the Order preſcribed and ſet forth in the Book intituled, The Book of the Common Prayer, and adminiſtration of the Sacraments, &c. any thing above mentioned to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

IV. Provided alſo, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act, or any thing therein contained, ſhall not extend to alter, change, revoke, repeal, or otherwiſe to diſannul any decree, judgment, ſentence or divorce heretofore had or made, but that all and every ſuch decree, judgment, ſentence and divorce, ſhall remain and be of ſuch like force, effect, ſtrength and degree, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as they were in before the making of this Act, and as though this Act had never been had ne made; This Act, or any thing therein contained to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding. CAP. XXII.

An Act concerning colouring of Cuſtoms in other mens names, to the deceit of the King.

Where at the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, in the firſt year of the Reign of the noble King of famous memory, Henry the Eighth, it was ordained, eſtabliſhed and enacted by the authority of the ſaid Parliament, That it ſhould be lawful from thenceforth, that every Engliſhman, and all other the Kings ſubjects, might in every Port or Haven within this Realm of England, Ireland, and Wales, and the Marches of the ſame, and in the Town of Barwick, where it ſhould happen any merchandiſe to arrive, or to be charged and carried out to cuſtom in his name, all manner of goods and merchandiſe of another Engliſhman, or the Kings ſubject: and in like form every merchant ſtranger to cuſtom in his name any goods or merchandiſe of any other merchant ſtranger, ſo that the ſaid merchant ſtranger that cuſtoms the goods of another merchant ſtranger, and the very owner or proprietary of the goods ſo cuſtomed, be charged with like cuſtom, ſubſidy, and other things, ſo that the Kings Grace were not defrauded of his right.

Cuſtoms 19.

II. And if any merchant ſtranger or denizen, or any other the Kings ſubject, cuſtom any goods or merchandiſe of any other ſtranger or denizen, or of any other the Kings ſubject, whereby the Kings Grace ſhould loſe his cuſtom, ſubſidy, or other his right or duty; that then the ſaid merchant ſtranger or denizen, or any other the Kings ſubject that ſo taketh upon him or them to do, ſhould forfeit to the King the goods or merchandiſe ſo cuſtomed, and over that, to forfeit to the party or parties in that behalf grieved, as much money as the goods or merchandiſe of the merchant ſtranger, denizen, or other the Kings ſubject ſo cautelouſly cuſtomed, amounted unto.

A confirmation of the Statute of 1 H. 8. 5. touching cuſtoming of goods in the name of others.

III. And that no Citizen of London, or other the Kings ſubjects inhabiting in the Cinque-ports, or any other being free of Priſage or Butlarage of Wines, by grant, cuſtom, or otherwiſe, ſhould cuſtom no Wines of any perſon or perſons, not being free of any Priſage or Butlarage: And if any perſon free of the ſaid Priſage or Butlarage ſo did; that then the ſaid perſon or perſons that ſo did, ſhould forfeit to the King the double value of the Priſage of the ſaid Wines ſo cuſtomed. And further, that it ſhould be lawful to any perſon and perſons grieved contrary to the ſaid Act, to have an action of debt againſt any perſon or perſons that ſo cuſtomed the goods or merchandiſe in his name, and not in the owners name, of the ſum of the value of the ſaid merchandiſe ſo cuſtomed and forfeited: in the which action no eſſoin or protection ſhould lie, nor the Defendant to wage his Law, as by the ſaid former Act more at large doth appear: Sithence the making of which Act, divers perſons, as well ſtrangers and denizens, as the Kings ſubjects, forgetting their bounden duties to the Kings Highneſs, and nothing fearing the penalties and forfeitures mentioned in the ſaid former Act, do daily deceive the King as well in his cuſtoms and ſubſidies, by payment of cuſtoms and ſubſidies in the names of ſuch perſons, other then ſuch as be the very owners or proprietaries of the goods, wares and merchandiſe of the Priſage or Butlarage of Wines due to the King.

IV. Wherefore be it ordained and enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That if any ſtranger born, denizen or not denizen, or any the Kings ſubjects, do at any time from or after the laſt day of March next coming, any thing or act contrary to the true meaning, tenour and purport of the ſame former Act and Statute, that then he and they ſo offending, ſhall loſe and forfeit all his and their own goods and chattels perſonals for ever: the moiety of which forfeiture ſhall be to the King, and the other moiety to him or them that will ſue for the ſame by bill, plaint, action of debt or information, in which bill, plaint, action or information, no wager of law, eſſoin or protection ſhall be admitted or allowed.

The penalty for cuſtoming of other mens goods whereby the King loſeth his duty.

V. Provided always, and be it enacted by the authority aboveſaid, That every ſuch bill, plaint, action or information, ſhall be had & purſued within three years next enſuing any ſuch offence committed or done, or elſe the offendors to be clearly free and diſcharged thereof; any Law or Statute to the contrary had or made notwithſtanding. CAP. XXIII.

The Repeal of an Act made in the 32. year of King Henry the Eighth, which was made, That Marriage contracted in the face of the Church, and conſummate with bodily knowledge, to be deemed lawful, any former contract notwithſtanding.

Whereas in the two and thirtieth year of the Reign of the late King of famous memory, King Henry the Eighth, becauſe that many inconveniences had chanced in this Realm, by breaking and diſſolving of good and lawful marriages, yea, whereupon alſo ſometime iſſue and children had followed, under the colour and pretence of a former contract made with another, the which contract divers times was but very ſlenderly proved, and often but ſurmiſed by the malice of the party who deſired to be diſſolved from the marriage which they liked not, and to be coupled with another, there was an Act made, That all and every ſuch marriages as within the Church of England ſhould be contracted and ſolemnized in the face of the Church, and conſummate with bodily knowledge, or fruit of chil-

CAP. IV.

An Act containing divers Orders for Artificers, Labourers, Servants of Husbandry, and Apprentices.

Although there remain and ſtand in force preſently, a great number of Acts and Statutes concerning the retaining, departing, wages, and orders of Apprentices, Servants and Labourers, as well in Husbandry, as in divers other Arts, Myſteries and Occupations; yet partly for the imperfection and contrariety that is found, and doth appear in ſundry of the ſaid Laws, and for the variety and number of them, and chiefly for that the wages and allowances limited and rated in many of the ſaid Statutes, are in divers places too ſmall, and not anſwerable to this time, reſpecting the advancement of prices of all things belonging to the ſaid ſervants and labourers, the ſaid Laws cannot conveniently, without the great grief and burden of the poor labourer, and hired man, be put in good and due execution: And as the ſaid ſeveral Acts and Statutes were at the time of the making of them, thought to be very good and beneficial for the Commonwealth of this Realm (as divers of them yet are:) ſo if the ſubſtance of as many of the ſaid laws as are meet to be continued, ſhall be digeſted and reduced into one ſole law and ſtatute, and in the ſame an uniform order preſcribed and limited concerning the wages and other orders for apprentices, ſervants and labourers, there is good hope that it will come to paſs, that the ſame law (being duly executed) ſhould baniſh idleneſs, advance husbandry, and yield unto the hired perſon both in the time of ſcarcity, and in the time of plenty, a convenient proportion of Wages.

Labourers 1. Juſtices of Peace, 66, &c. A repeal of ſo much of former Statutes as concern the hiring, keeping, departing, working, or order of ſervants, labourers, &c. And a declaration who ſhall be compellable to ſerve in handicrafts, and who in husbandry, and their ſeveral duties, &c.

II. Be it therefore enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That as much of all the Eſtatutes heretofore made, and every branch of them, as touch or concern the hiring, keeping, departing, working, wages, or order of ſervants, workmen, artificers, apprentices and labourers, or any of them, and the penalties and forfeitures concerning the ſame, ſhall be from and after the laſt day of September next enſuing, repealed and utterly void and of none effect, and that all the ſaid ſtatutes, and every branch thereof, or any matter contained in them, and not repealed by this Statute, ſhall remain and be in full force and effect; any thing in this Statute to the contrary notwithſtanding.

III. And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That no manner of perſon or perſons after the aforeſaid laſt day of September now next enſuing, ſhall retain, hire, or take into ſervice, or cauſe to be retained or hired, or taken into ſervice, nor any perſon ſhall be retained, hired or taken into ſervice, by any means or colour, to work for any leſs time or term then for one whole year, in any of the Sciences, Crafts, Myſteries or Arts of Clothiers, Woollen Cloth Weavers, Tuckers, Fullers, Clothworkers, Sheremen, Dyers, Hoſiers, Taylors, Shoemakers, Tanners, Pewterers, Bakers, Brewers, Glovers, Cutlers, Smiths, Farriers, Curriers, Sadlers, Spurriers, Turners, Cappers, Hatmakers, or Feltmakers, Bowyers, Fletchers, Arrow-head makers, Butchers, Cooks or Millers.

No perſon ſhall retain a ſervant in theſe ſciences, under one whole year.

IV. And be it further enacted, That every perſon being unmarried, and every other perſon being under the age of xxx years, that after the Feaſt of Eaſter next, ſhall marry, and having been brought up in any of the ſaid Arts, Crafts or Sciences, or that hath uſed or exerciſed any of them by the ſpace of three years or more, and not having lands, tenements, rents, or hereditaments, copy-hold, or free-hold, of one eſtate of Inheritance, or for term of any life or lives, of clear yearly value of xl. s. nor being worth of his own goods the clear value of x. pound, and ſo allowed by two Juſtices of the Peace of the County where he hath moſt commonly inhabited by the ſpace of one whole year, and under their hands and ſeals, or by the Mayor or other head-officers of the City, Borough, or Town-corporate where ſuch perſon hath moſt commonly dwelt by the ſpace of one whole year, and two Aldermen, or two other diſcreet Burgeſſes of the ſame City, Borough or Town-corporate, if there be no Aldermen, under their hands and ſeals; nor being retained with any perſon in husbandry, or in any of the aforeſaid Arts and Sciences, according to this Statute; nor lawfully retained in other Art or Science; nor being lawfully retained in houſhold, or in any office with any Nobleman, Gentleman, or others, according to the Law of this Realm; nor have a convenient

What ſort of perſons are compellable to ſerve by the year in huſbandry.

VIII. And be it further enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That if any perſon after he hath retained any ſervant, ſhall put away the ſame ſervant before the end of his term, unleſs it be for ſome reaſonable and ſufficient cauſe, to be allowed as is aforeſaid; or if any ſuch Maſter, Miſtreſs or Dame, ſhall put away any ſuch ſervant at the end of his term, without one quarters warning given before the ſaid end, as is above remembred, that then every ſuch Maſter, Miſtreſs or Dame ſo offending, unleſs he or they be able to prove by two ſufficient witneſſes, ſuch reaſonable and ſufficient cauſe of putting away of their ſervant or ſervants, during their term, or a quarters warning given afore the end of the ſaid term, as is aforeſaid, before the Juſtices of Oyer and Terminer, Juſtices of the Aſſiſe, Juſtices of Peace in the quarter Seſſions, or before the Mayor or other head-officer of any City, Borough or Town-corporate, and two Aldermen, or two other diſcreet Burgeſſes of the ſame City, Borough, or Town-corporate, if there be no Aldermen, or before the Lord Preſident and Council eſtabliſhed in the Marches of Wales, or before the Lord Preſident and Council for the time being eſtabliſhed in the North parts, ſhall forfeit the ſum of xl. s.
